The screenshot shows a web browser displaying a PDF document. The document is titled "Visual Analysis of Undergraduate Teaching in Business Administration" and is published in "Procedia Computer Science 199 (2022) 788–797". The authors are Li Lingyan* and Guo Yukun*. The abstract states: "This paper takes 174 documents of undergraduate teaching research of business administration major in 2001–2020 as a sample, and analyzes the research course and present situation of undergraduate teaching of business administration by using the CNKI visual analysis system of Chinese knowledge network. According to the analysis results, the following conclusions are drawn: on the whole, the research on the undergraduate teaching of business administration started late, the number of documents increased and the development tended to be stable after 2010. The research focuses are mainly on the undergraduate course setting, the practice teaching reform, and the undergraduate talent training model." The browser interface includes a search bar, navigation buttons, and a sidebar with recommended articles.
